The First Game.

Until the fourth inning there was no chance for either side to score. Richmond opened with Knightly at the but. Bob pasted one down to short, and Rose threw high to first. (Bob says it was a hit, but the official scorer was confident that Rose was the cause of Bob's life). But anyaway, Shaughnessey did the waiting act. Kenningham was served with the same diet, and then Crawford, the Southpaw twirler, ambiled out to bat. He sized up one of Hoskin's peculiar ones and sent it out to right center. Knightly and Shaughnessey scored. Cra bad throw by second, Kenningham got home. Hay died to the pitcher and Senf sent one out to right garden. Jones pasted a pretty one and Crawford trotted home. Bauer took the cemetery road from short. This was all, but sufficient unto the day's games were the runs thereof, for the best that the Highlanders could do was to force one runner over in the fourth and another in the fifth.

Rose was handed a bouquet of four in the fourth. Boone was issued a complimentary also. But in the meantime Rose had attempted to pilier bag two and was convicted. Hoskins dumped one down to the pitcher, and was out at first, but Boone was circling. Bache tore off a good single and Boone came over. Taylor made Kenningham in right tield work.

When It is An Error.

Shelton opened the fifth for Barton Heights. He sent one down to Ford, who didn't handle it; another kick. The hall was an easy one to handle for the fielder. It bounced over Ford's arm. Ford said it struck a rock, and that because he didn't touch it there should not be an error. There is a mistaken idea among many players about touching a ball for an error. A fielder may get his hands on a ball and not field it on account of the speed at which the ball is traveling or his position at the time, and he does not necessarily have to be given an error. And, on the other hand, a baseman or fielded may not touch the ball at all and get an error. The only question to decide is whether or not the ball could have been fielded.

YACHTING TROPHY GIVEN . BY KING OF ENGLAND

THE PRINCE OF WALES CUP

When the yachts of the Eastern and New York Yacht Clubs visit Halifax in August, on the occasion of the ocean race of the former club from Marbiehead to the Provincial port, they will have the privilege of racing for the most valued yachting trophy in Great Britain's colonies, the Prince of Wales's cup of the Royal Nova Scotia Yacht Squadron.

This cup was presented to the Royal Nova Scotia Yacht Club by the present King of England, when, as a young prince, he visited Halifax in 1850, it is a beautiful specimen of the silversmith's handleraft, standing two feet high, and is one of the handsomest yachting trophies in existence.

According to the conditions under which the cup is held, the trophy can be kept by the winning yaght only nine months. It must then be returned to Halifax, to be raced for in Halifax harbor the next season after it has been won.

Sixth Race Won By Roseben. Day's Results on Other Tracks.

(By Associated Press.) NEW YORK, July 15.-E. R. Thomas's Hermis, carrying the heavy impost of 132 pounds, to-day won the Islip Handicap at Brighton Beach, defeating Buttling by a neck. Redfern had the mount on Hermis, and the great horse's vicory was exceedingly popular. When he flashed under the wire a winner, a great cheer rang out, which was renewed when Redfern brought him back to the scales. Buttling, who had been interfered with and knocked back, closed very strong and forced Redfern to ride hard to win.
